A SHIP BURNED AT SEA.

Supposed Loss of Sixty-one Lives—Sufferings of the Survivors—Inhumanity.

In March last the British ship Blue Jacket was wrecked on her way from New Zealand to England. Out of sixty-nine persons on board only four are known to have been saved. The London Herald publishes the following narrative, which they vouch for as being in every particular true:

"I will tell you what happened from the time we left Lyttelton up to the time we struck. We had for a crew twenty-five seamen, besides officers, and a passenger list of forty-two, making a total number of people on board sixty-two, and seven children. There was also the sea sickness arising that soon passed away. We made very little headway in the Horn, it twenty days in the 7th March we passed the Falkland Islands, but failed to sight them, little dreaming at that time that this place would be our refuge therefore long.

ON FIRE.

"But to my story. On Friday, 11th, we were in latitude 57 south, when at about half-past one in the afternoon smoke was seen issuing out of the forehatchway. We well knew what was the matter, and in about ten minutes the crew, having left their dinners, were at their stations, ready to play the pumps upon it. There was no flames, but very dense smoke arising. As soon as the captain saw it he sent for the pilot, who told Mr. Williams to take the yacht's crew and prepare to lower the boats, which were got ready for going over the side. Then the two boats were got ready for lowering and provisioned in the meantime. I had a few hands to tend sail. While all this was proceeding the pumps were still going, every one working for life. It happened to be very fine afternoon, every thing was done to extinguish the fire, and about six o'clock we thought we would get the upper hatches off. Half an hour afterwards it broke out in three places. We still kept hard at it until 11 at night, when we had to desist, for the fire had now gained the mastery. We had to desist, for the fire had now gained the mastery. We had to desist, for the fire had now gained the mastery. We

The Herald's Havana special says The town of Azua, in St Domingo, is besieged by the insurgents President Baez has sent troops to aid the garrison and is confident of success in suppressing the rebellion

The steamship Doran, from Bremen, has arrived.

It is said that a number of recruits for the Cuban army are about to bring suits against the Junta to recover the thirty dollars per month in gold offered by them at the time of enlistment The Junta appear to refuse to pay any except those who enlisted at their own headquarters. The recruits will also sue for the five hundred dollars bounty in gold offered them, and for their clothes, &c, lost in the attempted expedition

All the prisoners confined at Fort Lafayette, charged with being concerned in the Cuban expedition have been released No particulars given, but it is supposed they were released on their own recognizance

A London special to the Herald says The compromise of the Irish Church bill was the result of fear on the part of the Peers of the consequences threatened by a collision of the two Houses of Parliament

Last night the Tory Lords held a large meeting at private residence and resolved to repudiate the Marquis of Salisbury and put themselves under the lead of Lord Cairns The latter was authorized to make peace with the Ministry and express the willingness of the Peers to yield To day Lord Cairns sought an interview with Earl Granville and gave in the submission of the Peers whereupon the Cabinet agreed to the compromise announced to night The prompt and decisive action of popular indignation turned the Peers and thus has been postponed for a while the threatened agitation

The steamship Arizona, from Aspinwall has arrived

S L Webster, of Chicago West manager of the National Steamship Company, leaves Saturday in the steamship France for England for the purpose of effecting the through shipments from Chicago on the western lakes to Europe His theory is that a number of the Wisconsin produce in the grain region of Europe can be made in the Westerly direction the same season from New York, that Chicago and the Western points where the grain from Europe should be cut He will visit the large cities and explain to them the advantages of commerce

REV D A CUNNINGHAM, pastor of Spring Garden Presbyterian Church Philadelphia will preach in the Presbyterian Church of this city to morrow evening

DEMORALIZED HORSEFLESH—Scarcely a day passes but that our streets are the scene of one or two runaways which fortunately so far have not been attended with serious accident, yet are none the less exciting from the fact that several very narrow escapes have occurred It does seem as if the very spirit of mischief and demoralization had taken possession of the equine race of late Old staid and sober teams that never indulged in a frolicsome whisk of their capacious pendage since they were colts in the pasture suddenly elevate their spinal column or in modern vernacular, get their backs up and after kicking out the dashboard, start frantically through the streets utterly regardless of all rules of the road and to the detriment of all pedestrians and street goers generally Ancient family steeds that have never indulged in eccentricities of character, good moral country horses, that have been the pet and pride of the family for years, no sooner enter the precincts of the city than their ears become erect, and with perpendicular tail, they break into a pace that soon distributes the contents of the vehicle, whether human or articles of merchandise, and generally bring up against some lamp post, without enough of the original wagon left to make kindling wood for supper It is a question for philosophers to ponder over why this is thus Perhaps it is due to the oppressive taxation of our city government, or maybe as a result of the infernal war"—nevertheless we see the effect without knowing the cause

But a day or two since we observed a horse flying through our principal thoroughfare with what had once been a buggy following closely behind. Sometimes the vehicle would be in the advance and again the quadruped but the former appeared to travel principally on one wheel while the favorite method of locomotion of the latter was on either ear An unhappy specimen of humanity sat perched upon the upper part of the carriage, holding grimly on to a pair of lines that had long since severed all connection with the horse

A sudden turn, and by a dextrous movement the man made a grand circus somersault over horse, wagon and all, bringing up in a pool of soft slush near the corner of Main and Franklin streets, and we were spared writing an obituary Horses and wagons without any drivers executed quite as brilliant and unprecedented feats and it is thought by many that picket posts should be established at convenient intervals through the town, to give timely warning of the approach of runaway teams

Yesterday afternoon a team standing in front of Dr. Carr's feed store became frightened and dashed wildly through Diamond street, where by the timely aid of a telegraph post and the driver, Mr Kilburn, (who with his wife occupied the seat), they were brought to a stand still without any damage save a severe fright to the lady, and a broken harness. Too much care cannot be exercised in leaving horses unhitched or we may yet be called on to chronicle a severe or fatal accident from this cause

SEIZURE OF MEERSCHAUM PIPES—A rare chance for all to sport a good pipe Great auction sale of meerschaum pipes at Rice's auction store, on Franklin street, this Saturday night They are all finely carved, and warranted to be made of good material Sale to commence at 7½ o'clock

A Glimpse of Pleasantville

A year ago, during the height of the oil excitement at Pleasantville, our readers were made familiar by daily reports from our own correspondent with all events of interest transpiring in that locality As by degrees, however, active oil developments have receded toward Neilsburg, the affairs of the borough have attracted less attention But the contrast of to day is an agreeable one A year ago the borough was the pivotal point of the oil region—the centre of its most active operations So unexpected was the development, and so sudden and extensive the influx of population, that the pleasant village seemed transformed into a chaotic municipality Everything available in the form of a building lot or affording a site for staking we la, was leased or purchased The hotels and offices swarmed with speculators, every street was lined with "new stores," and scores of door yards were defiled with the ubiquitous derrick In rainy weather there was a general mud embargo, and side walks and cross walks were extemporized at private expense

But amid the babel confusion, and bustle of trade, and fever of speculation, there was no social disorder, and the town steadily grew and prospered in all the elements which combine to form a community of the better class There is now a population of about 2000 less than one half, perhaps, that of six months ago, but conservative, industrious, enterprising men, with the intent permanence

The absence of the oil fever, and the suspension of practical development within the borough limits, occasioned no financial panic or collapse On the contrary the permanent residents and property holders received of better moral and confusion incident to an excessive floating population and business speculation at work to improve the condition of the place Scores of derricks have been removed from abandoned wells, and private enterprise is displaying itself extensively in various forms The borough authorities with commendable public spirit, have constructed side walks upon all the streets, (measuring several miles in extent) and crossways at the principal intersections The streets are in excellent condition From the Burgess Hon M C Beebe, we learn that the tax levy for the present year is three and a half per cent, which includes a poor tax of one half per cent, for the corporation provides for all cases within its province Last year the burden was restricted to the business portion of the town for the accommodation of storekeepers, but the present session witnesses the erection of a number of stores and residences At the corner of State and Chestnut streets Mr Benjamin Crooks is erecting a handsome and commodious dwelling at a cost of about $8000 On Chestnut street Col J S Warner is building a handsome two story dwelling, which will cost about $7000 On the adjoining lot to north two mansard cottages are in process of erection, similar to those on Church street They are the property of Mrs J L Nelson and W F House o Pleasantville On Main street Judge Connelly has laid the foundations for a three story brick, the main building being 30 feet square It will finish about one thousand dollars Hon John F Brown has partially completed a handsome dwelling upon the lot next west of the old homestead It is of the villa style of architecture, has a slate roof with wrought iron ornaments and cost over $5000 The above comprise the most costly buildings, improvements of the present season Mr E O Allen on Main street has erected a handsome two story dwelling, costing about $3000 each D Christy has built a similar cottage Mr N C Clark has nearly completed a fine residence on Main street and many less conspicuous dwellings have been erected during the last twelve months in various parts of the borough

The religious societies of the place also appreciating the value of permanent attractions are exhibiting their faith by their works this year The Presbyterians are building a handsome and commodious house of worship on State street It is of semi Gothic style and will have a tower and belfry which will give it a commanding appearance Cost, $12 000 The Methodist Society have prepared specifications and executed a contract for a new church on the site of their present edifice at the head of Main street It will cost about $10 000 Complete

The Pleasantville Union School which last year contained about 150 pupils, a portion of whom had to find accommodations in other sections of the town, is now and taking consider able enlargement Another story has been added to the building, at a cost of $2 500, and the capacity of the structure thus enlarged to meet the public requirements A principal has not been engaged for the ensuing term, but we learn that School Directors have tendered the position to Prof Stewart, late principal of our Titusville Union School We doubt if the selection could be improved

During our half hour's sojourn at Pleasantville yesterday, noting these substantial indications of its growth, public spirit and prosperity, we dropped in at the new post office, which, under the supervision of E A Kelly (which is P M since the ides of March) has been removed to Mr H H Curtis's new building, on Main street It is small of course, and for convenience of access and general neatness of appearance is not surpassed in the oil region Mr W W Barry, the assistant, gave us some interesting statistics of its business The daily mails include two from Titusville, one from Tidioute, two from Southwest, and one from Honesty About five hundred letters are dispatched daily, and the receipts for distribution at the office fully double that amount. Pleasantville is now a money order office, and the business of that department is daily increasing Mr M P Barber officiates as clerk The store room fronting the office is occupied by Curtiss & Co as a news and stationery depot, and contains a large and valuable stock of all commodities incident to the trade The HERALD always on sale, has a numerous list of patrons at Pleasantville, and will endeavor always to deserve them.

Walking down Main street we find Sherman & Beebe in their office, expounding law and politics alternately to clients or political aspirants, as the case may be J Byles, Esq, former of Titusville, practices his profession as Attorney with industry, and we trust with profit M C Benedict, Notary, and A Holeman, Esq, Justice of the Peace, have also pleasant offices in the same popular locality

Around the corners there is a smaller crowd of idlers and speculators than formerly, but a sufficient representation of that once numerous class to show that they are not extinct. Brown Bros' store, as always, drives a steady and prosperous trade in all departments, and the banking office of Mitchell & Brown constitutes a safe and convenient medium for financial transactions of every description The Chase House, Union, New York and Hyde's are enjoying a healthful patronage, though they doubtless sigh occasionally for the times long syne, when (as Major Mills describes it) the rush was so incessant that no hotel keeper could get time to count his greenbacks without shutting up his house That time may never come again, but Pleasantville will live and flourish, notwithstanding We should like to dwell on Pleasantville, for it is a pleasant topic We should like to dwell on Pleasantville, if it were not that—Titusville is Titusville, and Pleasantville is its profit' So, success to Pleasantville'

Special Correspondence of the Morning Herald

Long Branch; Notes from the Sea Shore: Gossip, &c

STETSON HOUSE,
LONG BRANCH, July 20th, 1869

It is a pleasant transition one makes in bidding good bye to the regions of oil, and awaking, as I did this morning, to find myself not only "on the beach at Long Branch," but inhaling the strengthening breezes of the ocean itself as they came rustling through the folds of the curtain that partly concealed the view of the beach below, and an hour later, after such a breakfast as only those whose appetites are sharpened by the exercise and air of this lovely spot, can appreciate, I found myself seated upon the verandah of the hotel enjoying the scene around me, with scarce a reminder that I was a citizen of the oil country, and participator in the busy scenes there enacted

But my thoughts were undisturbed by market reports Not a dream of "shorts" clouded the serenity of my musings It is refreshing to note the old faces and new costumes that each season shine for a time at this point before migrating to the other places designated by a kind Providence for all such birds of fashion who plume themselves for flight from the city To many, Long Branch affords only a temporary stopping place before appearing at older and the still more aristocratic resorts of Saratoga and Newport Indeed it may be said that the majority of pleasure seekers only sojourn long enough to exhibit the first layer of dresses in their trunks, register themselves for the season write a few letters plunge into the surf, then depart for other and livelier scenes and, speaking of surf bathing, I wish that your readers could see a group or lot of city belles as they make their appearance upon the beach, fully equipped for a struggle with Neptune The terrible change that these charmers undergo would bring tears (of laughter) to your eyes for there is a sense of ludicrousness about the scene that cannot be resisted when a Irish Avenoodle divested of chignon and Grecian, essays a bath in the surf Even the fish laugh as they see the "love not of her sex" floundering about in the brine after the manner of a porpoise in shoal water As they leave the little houses wherein the metamorphosis has taken place, you fail to recognize a single being who entered a few moments before—which is, no doubt a wise provision of nature Each has an air of dignity which fully accords with the bifurcated garments she sports and the great exclusiveness with which she dispositions the sands, together with the saucy manner in which her straw hat is tied down over her curls seems to say—"don't you dare to laugh at me" Presently she enters the surf with a little shriek of fear as the first wave chills the next sends her sprawling like a mudturtle on all fours she is soon to her feet, half choked with vexation and salt water, with ears full of sand and clinging wildly at everybody and everything, grims like a Mariculybo upon the delighted assemblage which witnessed the scene So is the belle of the evening, reappears at the hop dignified, decorous and beautiful as ever But the belle differs with the aristocrats, in that they appear each morning Among the most stylish turnouts that grace the sands is that of the well known doctor Himbold whose medicines have world wide fame in every part of the world and whose advertisements are posted on every available portion of the globe including the North Pole The carriage of this celebrated medical man is a costly and costly affair and creates a good deal of attention among the gazers of fashionable sketchers at this point The body of the vehicle is the exact counterpart of one of the doctor's pill boxes though on a larger scale, the wheels are manufactured of a wood well known from which the owner extracts a valuable compound used in his mixtures—in fact the entire affair is constructed as an advertising device The horses are matched corsets and their diet consists entirely of Buchu leaves and other herbs The driver is a living witness of the efficacy of the doctor's remedies having by the use of Hombold's pills, restored to his original form and by the liberal use of several quarts of his matchless shaving balm of sight

He now wears a liver colored suit of livery and is fast recovering from the liver complaint, caused by high living, and will shortly be informed on showing to the boxes of his medicine Occasionally the doctor appears alone upon the beach with his four in hand He is always followed by a crowd, to whom he distributes his magic pills which usually disperses them in fifteen minutes after us

We are expecting Grant and family to day in consequence of which unusual excitement exists among the gusts of the hotel, and a hop is being discussed by those who are not troubled with corns and have not yet reached the bottom of their trunks

It is amusing to read the stray bits of long yarn you clip from upon the sea of newspaper item pertaining to this place, and notice the additions made to the simple facts by unscrupulous reports But a day or two since a metropolitan journal contained the following

Olive Logan is disgusted with bathing at Long Branch because there are no brawny fellows to take her out and teach her to swim She says they do those things better in France

The fact is, Olive said nothing of the kind There are plenty of guides to assist those who wish to swim, and the most perfect arrangements have been made for recovering the bodies of those carried out by the undertow

I must cut my letter short as I am invited by several members of the Sorosis to join them in a dip in the surf

I shall give you a description of the Presidential hop when it comes off and will telegraph Grant a speech in full C"

AN OIL WELL BURNED AT ROUSEVILLE About five o'clock, yesterday morning a large quantity of gas which had accumulated about the Carpenter well on the west side of the creek at Rouseville, on account of the atmosphere during the night being very heavy, caught fire from the engine and exploded with great violence The derrick and engine house and a small quantity of oil which had been pumped, ignited, and were destroyed One of the engineers, a man named Robert Black, was severely burned by the explosion The well was a new one, and had only been started up a few hours

THE Connoautville Record says A company of capitalists from the Shenango Valley coal regions have leased a large number of farms in Conneaut Valley around Dickonburg, four miles south of this place and are now actively engaged in boring for coal on their territory Before entering upon their work experienced miners made a thorough examination of the indications, and upon the report of the examiners the work has been commenced The parties are sanguine that coal in paying quantities will be found, in which case they have a good thing of it, while the benefit to this section will be almost incalculable

MRS HANNAH T STEARNS, missionary and lecturess, under the auspices of the State Society of Spiritualists, will speak at the Universalist church to morrow evening at 7½ o'clock The public are invited

Immigration.

Immigrants are pouring into the United States on both sides of the channel Not only is the influx at New York enormous, but the character of those who arrive is better than in previous years.

Since the 1st of January, 114 683 immigrants have arrived, being nearly 28,000 more than during the same period of last year. The Germans are the most numerous, being more than twice as many as the Irish Third in numbers are the English, next the Swedes, Scotch and Swiss, France, Holland, Denmark, Norway and Italy follow at a considerable distance, and other European countries contribute comparatively only a trifling proportion. Up to the 16th of this month the Germans were two-fifths of the whole number.

One of the most remarkable features in the case is the unprecedented increase of immigration from Sweden. In February there was only fifty Swedish immigrants in May there were more than 6,000; and in the first fortnight in June there were 5000 in the last eighteen months they have been more numerous by 2400 than in the twenty preceding

The largest immigration ever yet known in one year was in 1867, when it reached 242,734, but it is believed the number will in the present year be the largest ever yet known in the history of our country

In the last ten years we have received two millions, five hundred thousand emigrants, besides sixty five thousand Chinese

The emigration from England seems likely to be conspicuously greater than at any former time, and it seems to be no sudden or fortuitous outburst, but to originate in a disposition to systematise emigration and treat depletion as a recognized cure for the difficulties of the working classes"

The Germans, Swedes, Norwegians and Danes go chiefly to Wisconsin, although many Swedes have been settling in Minnesota and Illinois

The New York Evening Post estimates each emigrant on an average brings $50 in cash, being about six millions for the whole amount this year and reckoning the value of the emigrants at $100 each, we have a total of over a hundred and twenty millions in value thus imported No doubt, the aggregate earnings of the emigrants above their mere expenses of subsistence, will amount to far more than this

WEED AND FILLMORE, the veteran wooly head" and the venerable "silver gray meeting at Saratoga Springs, have entered into a treaty of peace and agree henceforth to live in unity Both are fun on the shelf politically, and living in the past there is nothing to be gained by either of them quarreling any longer It now remains for Weed to ask Greeley's pardon, and for the philosopher of the Tribune to throw his old white coat" of forgiveness over his redoubtable adversary How beautiful the sight of brethren who agree'

It is said that a law of Ohio enacts that every railroad in the State shall, when necessary to heat any of its cars, do so by heating apparatus so constructed that the fire in it will be immediately extinguished in case of its being thrown from the track and overturned The same law provides that cars shall be lighted by candles only We hope that this law, or at least the first section of it, really exists and will be strictly enforced But the best way to prevent railroad horrors is to assess heavy damages on behalf of every injured passenger $10 000 a leg and $50 000 a life, will incite railroad companies to adopt all necessary precautions

A young lad at Lake Station, Miss., had a large kite presented to him, about six feet feet by four in size, which he attempted to fly the other day just as the wind was increasing and a storm was threatening. The wind drew the kite so heavily as to drag the boy along also. To prevent losing his favorite, he wound the cord around his body. At last the wind bore the kite and boy upward, until the young kite-flyer caught into the top of a tree, and his dangling seventy-five feet above the ground. A heavy of rain came on, slackening the line, abating the wind, and allowing the little sufferer to be rescued. He was found to be unconscious, and so bruised and marred as to be scarcely recognized, but was restored the same evening and is now doing well.

"Spain," says a Paris letter in the Journal du Havre, "has asked for the good offices of France to intervene with the United States to induce the last named country to observe more closely the laws of neutrality towards the Island of Cuba. The Marquis de la Valette declined to do so alone, but offered to invite England to take part in a joint application."

A man named Lebeau, of Luxembourg, went the other day to confession and the communion. The motto of the paper is as follows: "Invitations to breakfast, to duels of the first blood, and to duels of death, will be received at the editor's residence, No. 14 Calle de Codols."

A new discription of lava is being thrown from the crater of Vesuvius since the last eruption, consisting of a beautiful mass of chrystals of salt. This has hitherto been unknown in volcanic natural history, and scientific bodies are investigating the cause and composition of the chrystals.

It is reported that the Trustees of Cornell University have decided to admit one hundred girls, and are devising means for their employment, that they may, like the male pupils, by their own labor, pay the whole or part of their expenses for board and education. A few, it is thought, can at once be received and placed at domestic work of different kinds. An office has recently been made by a prominent business college in New York city, to instruct fifty women in book-keeping without charge.

Pine apples are being cultivated in the Peninsula of Florida with the greatest success. They are larger than those grown in the West Indies, and fully equal to them in sweetness and flavor.

A recent conversation in the British House of Commons disclosed the fact that the adulteration of cattle-feed and manures was carried on to a perfectly unlimited extent. Guano was adulterated with chalk, gypsum and sand to the proportion of 50 per cent. Sulphate of ammonia was adulterated with worthless salts. The purest linseed cake of en contained 10 per cent. of adulteration, the substances used sometimes being absolutely poisonous. Phosphatic manure was sold of which only 6 per cent was pure, 6 per cent. sand, and 88 per cent. water.

They have a new grape in Pacific Valley, Cal., grown from seed taken from the crop of a wild swan. It is described as being as large as of wheat and rye, with heads ten or twelve inches in length, and yielding at the rate of 100 bushels to the acre.

How Poor Young Men get Along at Cornell University.

Recent records from the university demonstrate the admirable working of the rules for providing work for the students who wish to pay their own way. They receive tuition for nothing, but are expected to board and clothe themselves; and, in order that they may do this, every facility is afforded them to perform manual labor and honestly earn the support. A large number of the best students in the university are now paying their way at various trades and occupations. One who holds fires and sweeps rooms is carrying on four courses of study at once, and has taken the first prize in science and in German. A student from Pennsylvania makes an average of forty-five dollars a month by his trade of carpenter. He manufactures wardrobes, cabinets and bookcases. A New Jersey boy has started a printing office, which he runs at odd hours, earning $50 monthly, and standing well up with his classes. One student is a photographer, and takes the business keep him. Quite a number work on the university farm at a fixed price per hour, and live on their earnings. Others, not so skilled in labor, take to the under tasks of building roads and culverts, picking up stones, and doing any chores that offer, and so provide themselves with food and clothing. New buildings will soon be put up, and so there are ambition scores of students will find profitable employment. No young men with good brains, ready hands and a clear head—and no other should try for a college course at any rate—goes naked at Cornell University.

STATE AND COUNTY RIGHTS FOR SALE.

Good inducements to purchasers

These wells will yield a barrel of water in three minutes. The advantages claimed over other Tubes are:

First. They are drawn below the surface water, and up the pipe in a vacuum.

Second. They effectually exclude all filth and surface water, and containing no vacuum for impure air, and therefore is pure.

Third. They are made with dispatch, in summer or winter, without any accumulation of rubbish or litter.

Fourth. Neither rats, mice, bugs or worms can get into these wells.

Fifth. They are less expensive than ordinary wells by one half.

Sixth. By an ingenious arrangement a fine strainer is applied to the inside of the pipe, effectually excluding all sand or dirt from rising with the water.

It should be remembered that the filthy accumulations of our streets and yards are sending their death-dealing impurities not only in the atmosphere which we breathe, but that every drop of water that finds its way into the common open sewer, or other wells carries with it a portion of these impurities. There is no one thing that so induces good health as pure spring water, and when you find a locality where there is but one well, let you with the Rose Tube. Griffin's Patent

WATER PACKER.

This is one of the most useful Patents for oil operators ever invented. It has several advantages over any other steel Bag or Water Packer in use. 1st It can be put down quicker and is instantly ready for use as there is no waiting for seed to swell, and by its quick action the well is kept clean. 2d. It can never fasten tubing or casing in a well so that it cannot be taken out easily.

EVERY WATER PACKER IN USE HAS EASTENED STRINGS OF TUBING AND CASING, SO THEY CANNOT BE DRAWN FROM THE WELL.

3d. It is so constructed by means of a left hand screw that if it can be loosened in a few minutes and removed from the well without difficulty. Even the expansion of the rock above the packer will not prevent the casing being drawn out readily. It can be taken out and put back without repairs.

4th. This is the only Water Packer in use that has a Patent, all others being an infringement upon the Griffin Patent granted by the United States to J. D. Griffin, August 12th, 1867. The Patent is offered to the public at the low price of $10 each, and the money will be refunded to any parties buying, who are not entirely satisfaction.

Morrison's Genuine Pine Tar and Persian Healing Soaps are impregnated with extracts of the mildest and most balsamic nature, and are warranted perfectly innocent and free from mineral and all pernicious adulterations, and are selected by the ladies and the public in general in preference to any other Toilet Soaps, for the softness and delicacy which they induce to the hand and face, their capability of so thoroughly cleansing, and removing unsightly eruptions, rendering them indispensable to every toilet table.

I. P. MORRISON, M. D.,
(Late Manufacturing partner of A. A. Constantine,)

is the originator of Pine Tar and Persian Healing Soaps, consequently claims his as the only genuine goods of this kind in the market. All others are spurious imitations.
